THE SENIOR CLASS

B.F. GRADY HIGH SCHOOL

Albertson, North Carolina

FOREWORD

This year marks the thirtieth anniversary of B.F. Grady High School. It has been the goal of the staff of "THE OVERFLOW" throughout the compilation of this book to remind its readers that education comes through a gradual process of enlightenment.

We have chosen as our theme for this annual "Progress through Light", and we have tried to represent this progress by comparing it to the miraculous changes which have evolved in our method of lighting during the past thirty years. The freshmen are beginners in high school and find their way with a candle; the sophomores have advanced to the use of a lantern in seeking the light of knowledge; the juniors use an oil lamp showing their progress in reaching the wonderful age of electricity; the seniors have used the electric lamp to represent their achievement of that goal of enlightenment through knowledge. This objective has been attained in the four years they have labored at B.F. Grady.

As our homes have progressed from candles to modern electric lighting so our school has taken the leadership in increasing the light of knowledge in this community. By the encouragement of its principal, board members, faculty, and parents its students have achieved greater goals in life.

DEDICATION

Outstanding among the many teachers who have succeeded in adding something concrete to the building of our better characters are Miss Grady and Mr. Wells, who are fine examples of both efficient teachers and understanding friends. Always willing to be of service to their students, they have been inspirations through their untiring efforts to help us learn. We are sure others will benefit from the leadership of these fine teachers. Therefore, we, the Class of 1959, with our sincere thoughts dedicate our annual to Miss Mary Anna Grady and Mr. Edgar Wells, Jr.

"Blessed are the leaders who know no discouragement, who present no alibi."

CLASS HISTORY

In August 1955, the doors of B.F. Grady High School were thrown open to 64 bright eyed youngsters, and we made our green appearance into high school.

Before beginning the tour through high school, we elected class officers. They were: Judith Bell and Elaine Grady, presidents; Margie Lee and June Ann Smith, vice-presidents; Carolyn Waller and Glenda Scott, secretaries; Joyce Harper and Linda Rouse, reporters; and Betty Lou Waters and Hugh Smith, treasurers. Mrs. Alice Davis and Mrs. Madeline Smith were homeroom teachers.

Many of us, having joined the F.H.A. and F.F.A., experienced our first banquets.

Upon entering school the sophomore year, we found Miss Mary Anna Grady and Mrs. Edna Ward as our homeroom teachers. Hugh Smith and Elaine Grady were class presidents with Kenneth Smith and Franklin Stafford, vice-presidents; June Ann Smith and Lawrence Herring, secretaries; Glenda Scott and Mike Goodson, treasurers; Carolyn Outlaw and Herbert Deaver, reporters; and Nell Garner, devotional chairman.

Seventeen sophomores joined the Beta Club. They were: Elaine Grady, Joyce Harper, Patricia Harper, Margie Lee, Hugh Smith, Joel Williams, Carolyn Barnette, Linda Rouse, Betty Lou Waters, Glenda Scott, Carolyn Outlaw, Carolyn Waller, June Ann Smith, Jackie Parker, Nell Garner, Judith Bell, and Mike Goodson.

After a three months' vacation from books, we came back to school, this time, to begin work as juniors. We elected as our officers Hugh Smith, president; Carolyn Waller, vice-president; Carolyn Outlaw, secretary; Elaine Grady and Glenda Scott, treasurers; and Nell Garner, reporter. Mrs. Myra Hughes was our homeroom teacher.

One of the big highlights of the year was selecting our class rings. After much debating, we chose purple sets. Our next task was selling magazines. The class was divided into two teams. The losing side gave the winning side a party at Griffin's. We sold $2,179.30 worth of magazine subscriptions. Linda Rouse, Douglas Sutton, Mike Goodson, Glenda Scott, June Ann Smith, and Hugh Smith won prizes for their great work.

Soon Mrs. Hughes had to leave us, but Mrs. John Kelly came to our rescue and with her guidance we accomplished our goals through the remainder of the year.

Another one of our important jobs was presenting our play, "It's Great To Be Crazy". Characters in the play were: Betty Lou Waters, Margie Lee, Joyce Harper, Nell Garner, Hugh Smith, Mike Goodson, Judith Bell, Franklin Stafford, Patricia Harper, Carolyn Waller, Carolyn Outlaw, Bobby Holt, Jarry Hargrove, June Ann Smith, and Joel Williams. Glenda Scott and Elaine Grady were prompters and Miss Mary Anna Grady was the director.

Another unforgettable experience and thrill was that of our Junior-Senior Banquet, which was held in the Terrace Room, Hotel Goldsboro, in April. "Rendezvous of Stars" was the theme of the beautiful occasion.

After another thrill-packed summer, the school doors began to swing open and we gladly passed through them once more. We were finally seniors! We found to our joy and surprise that Miss Mary Anna Grady and Mr. Edgar Wells were our sponsors. Realizing the tasks that lay ahead, we plunged right in and elected our class officers. They were: Mike Goodson, president; Joyce Harper, vice-president; Margie Lee, secretary; Glenda Scott and June Ann Smith, treasurers; Betty Lou Waters, reporter; and Nell Garner, devotional chairman.

Our money-making projects included: selling candy, sponsoring dances, and bake-sales. Calling cards have already been received and exchanged.

Many things that are important to a senior are yet to come: our senior play, the Junior-Senior Banquet, baccalaureate sermon, and finally, our graduation, topped with our trip to Washington and New York.

It is sad to think that it is our last year as students at dear ole B.F. Grady High, but we must be brave and face the future with smiling faces.

Historian - Carolyn Barnette

CLASS PROPHECY

On Wednesday, May 15, 1970, as I was speeding out to my oil well at Sarecta, I was stopped by State Patrolman Robert Holt. While he was writing the ticket, I saw the former Janice Barwick, now Mrs. Sylvester Tew, and her five children pass. She waved and said she was on her way to see Gloria Blizzard who has her own beauty shop in Raleigh.

Driving on to the oil well, I stopped at Hugh Smith, Jr.'s, Drive-in-Grill. His waitress, Evelyn Arnette, fixed a delicious hamburger for me. While watching the World Series on T.V., I saw Commie Jones pitching for the Braves and Vernon Malpass batting for the Yankees. Vernon struck out; Manager James Hussey, fussing and stomping, then walked out.

At that moment the T.V. set went on the blink. Hugh Jr., dialed the operator, and who do you think answered him?--Fannie Lee Jones. Hugh asked her to place a call to Bobby Williamson, radio and T.V. repairman, to come repair his set.

Well, since the T.V. was torn up, I went around to the new consolidated school to see my friend, R.D. Stroud, who was the principal. Walking into the office, I was stopped by Joyce Harper and Nell Garner, elementary teachers. As we were talking, Patricia Harper, the home ec. teacher, interrupted our conversation and asked us to go over to the hospital to see Faye Kornegay, now Mrs. D.V. Grady, and her new baby. After seeing the baby, we went down to the cafeteria and had lunch with June Ann Smith, Elaine Grady, Judy Bell, and Dorothy Blizzard who are nurses at the hospital.

After lunch I had my prescription filled at Ennis Ray Proctor's drugstore. The pharmacist, Jackie Parker, told me that Dr. Kenneth Smith had made a mistake in writing the prescription. I told him to correct it and forget it because I'd never know the difference a hundred years from now. Milton Kennedy, a lab technician, was fixing his special brew--a mixture of sugar, water, and lemon juice called H2C2O2U2, which he sells to people who think they are sick. I walked Carolyn Waller, Dr. Smith's secretary. She bought a bottle of Kennedy's Mixture for her patient back at the office.

Leaving the drugstore I decided to go over to Douglas Sutton and Joe Arnett's Recreation Hall to play a game of "Ping Pong". The juke box was bellowing with Lindy Wiggins' top tune, "Satelite Delight". I went over and played the Carolyn Sisters' (Linda Carolyn Rouse, Carolyn Jean Barnette, and Carolyn Outlaw) hit record, "Jupiter Love Affair".

While walking to my office on Mars Street, I saw Freeman Murphy and Herman Hines, city cops, walking their beats. Margaret Ann Stroud, Mike Goodson's secretary, stopped the policemen to see how long she could park for a penny. They told her five minutes. She went into the bank to ask the cashier, Frank Gautier, to give her bills for a sack of change. When she came back out there was a ticket on her windshield. This made her angry. She threatened telling her boss, Mike Goodson, who was an attorney. I did not want to be caught in the argument, so I departed.

I stopped at the newsstand to buy a paper. As I turned to the sports section I saw that Jean Howard was high scorer of Girls' Professional Basketball Rating. Franklin Stafford, now playing for the Boston Editors, had scored 20 points last night against the House of David. Linwood Kornegay, owner of the newsstand, said that he went to the game and enjoyed it thoroughly. Richard Taylor, his assistant, thought that the House of David was the best team even though they had lost. I agreed and left.

Before going home I went by and had a talk with Sallie Summerlin, who was teaching orphans.

When I arrived at my office, I gave my secretary, Betty Lou Waters the rest of the day off. Engineers Lawrence Herring and Jarry Hargrove brought in the reports for the day. My chauffeur, Clifton Herring, came around with the Augnaut. Arriving at my home, I saw Glenda Scott Barwick leaving. She had been trying to buy stock into the oil wells.

After such a hard day's work, I felt I needed to relax for the remainder of the afternoon. I went into the house and took an escalator up to my bedroom. There, with the help of my valet, I tried to decide who was the greatest success of the class of 1959.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

We, the Senior Class of 1959, of B. F. Grady High School, County of Duplin, and State of North Carolina, being of sound mind, body, and memory, do hereby make this, our Last Will and Testament.

Article I

To B. F. Grady, our dear school, we leave our many hours spent at study here and our gratitude for all the things we have learned. We take with us many happy memories.

Article II

To Mr. H. M. Wells, our principal, we leave our sincere gratitude for his help and patience with us during our school years.

Article III

To Miss Mary Anna Grady and Mr. Edgar Wells, Jr., we leave our loving devotion for helping us to achieve our goal and for making this the happiest year of all.

Article IV

To the teachers, and parents, we wish to say, "Thank you for your understanding and co-operation during our school years."

Article V

To the Junior Class, we leave all the senior privileges as well as the work. To the Sophomores and Freshmen, we leave the wish that they might keep working until they reach the happy moment of graduation, too.

Article VI

Individual bequests: During our high school years we have gained quite a few abilities and possessions that we would like to leave the underclassmen. They are as follows:

Dorothy Blizzard bequeaths her ability to become a senior to Marlene Taylor and her school bus No. 10 to Kenansville junk yard, but refuses to bequeath George to anyone.

Lawrence Herring bequeaths himself to all pretty girls.

Margie Lee bequeaths her disability in math class to Ruth Ann Rhodes.

Linwood Kornegay bequeaths his ability to type to Hugh Grady Outlaw so he will not have to take it two years.

Elaine Grady bequeaths her school bus to anyone who likes to shake, rattle, and creep.

Jackie Parker bequeaths his good times on a Pontiac to Larry Page.

Pat Harper bequeaths her position on the basketball team to Faye Harper in hopes that she will make fame.

Douglas Sutton and Joe Arnette bequeath their love for La Grange to anyone who likes to have a good time.

Sallie Summerlin bequeaths her long hair to Yvonne Herring.

Franklin Stafford bequeaths his ability to be a great basketball player to Jack Hill.

Evelyn Arnette bequeaths her extra units to anyone who might need them.

R. D. Stroud bequeaths his math book to Tom Stroud.

Ann Stroud bequeaths her achievements and skill in physics to Ben Scott Turner.

Herman Hines bequeaths his part of the school house to Clifton Herring until he starts drawing Social Security.

Carolyn Waller bequeaths her music ability to Judy Rouse.

Mike Goodson bequeaths his ability to get away with fouls, dirty play, and sharp elbows in basketball to David Grigg.

Milton Kennedy bequeaths his English book to anyone who thinks they can muster up power to make it sour.

Vernon Malpass bequeaths his friendliness to Jack Hill and D.L. Scott.

Fannie Lee Jones bequeaths all her unwanted assets to Jean Outlaw, along with Swindell.

Bobby Holt and Bobby Williamson bequeath their ability to duck hunt to Kenny Page and Lynn Sutton.

James Hussey bequeaths his muscular body to Jack Hill. Glenda Scott Barwick bequeaths her love for Mount Olive to Gaynelle Waters.

June Ann Smith bequeaths her position on the basketball team to Barbara Dean Smith but she bequeaths Jimmy to no one.

Jarry Hargrove bequeaths his curls to Jack Hill and his height to D. L. Scott, Jr.

Gloria Blizzard and Janice Barwick bequeath their ability to write the states and alphabet to Mr. Edgar Wells, and their ability to talk to Yvonne Herring.

Ennis Ray Proctor bequeaths his love for North Duplin girls to no one.

Jean Howard bequeaths her ability to play basketball to Trula Howard.

Lindy Wiggins bequeaths his haircut to Melvin Harper whose style is really for a bopper.

Judith Bell bequeaths her warm seat in study hall to Blythe Bell.

Richard Taylor bequeaths his "false teeth" to W.G. Simmons so he can laugh at him.

Carolyn Outlaw bequeaths her bus, No. 9 and her ability to forget her glasses to Carolyn Grady.

Kenneth Smith bequeaths his ability to cure girls' headaches to Everette Westbrook.

Faye Kornegay bequeaths her ability to do Miss Dilday's typing to anyone who thinks they can catch up and her long hair to Nancy Tyndall.

Frank Gautier bequeaths his love for riding to Carolyn Grady, and his school bus, No. 40, to whoever wants it.

Betty Lou Waters bequeaths her ability to play basketball to Nellie Waters.

Nell Garner bequeaths her position as F.H.A. secretary to anyone willing to do plenty of writing.

Joyce Harper bequeaths her French book to anyone who feels brave.

Commie Jones bequeaths his happiness in the 13th grade to Hugh Grady Outlaw who he thinks he'll fade.

Clifton Herring bequeaths his good luck to Larry Page.

Carolyn Jean Barnette bequeaths her good times around Mount Olive and North Duplin to Lu Jean Harper, but bequeaths her soldier to no one.

Hugh Smith, Jr., bequeaths his cute dimples to Miss Mary Anna Grady in hopes she will really smile at her own jokes.

Linda Rouse bequeaths her place on the cheerleading team to Jewel Adams in hopes that she can cheer her teams on to victory.

Freeman Murphy bequeaths his extra pounds to Melvin Harper so he can get all the rebounds.

*Judy:
This is someone I know sweetest, cutest, and nicest
gals I know. Good luck, Randy*

My class is glad to be in your class. Judy

Dear Dimples, it've enjoyed "dabbling" with you and → this past year.
Whether I may have the privilege again, I don't know (only the future does) if you ever want to "met"
on my dry shoulder again,
you'll dry with me. face
the world with a smile and everything will work out, it's sure. Remember me as a special friend.
